At the beginning of the year, these pages stood blank, empty, awaiting someone to create and compile events, ideas, attitudes, and feelings into what would hopefully become a story of life. The wait was not a very long one, for you came and you were the creators, the "someone" who made things happen. This book, therefore, is yours, molded by the ones who helped compile it with the aid of taped interviews, surveys, and candid opinion, into a story of life. The story is of a group of individuals who, for a year at least, came together as one, a story of an institution most belovedly referred to as High Point Central High School, your story this year.

We have set our goals and planned our directions. The road is rough, indirect, and filled with ruts. Some of us have been wandering this road for nearly three years, striving for goals that, to most of us, are seemingly unreachable now. But there can be no turning back. We can make it; we must, for if we don't, there will be no past worth looking back to and this book, a history, will be meaningless.

The key to our success lies in our ability to support one another, to extend a helping hand, to be able to communicate and lend a listening ear, to possess and display the joy and comfort of togetherness. And with this togetherness, be it honest and sincere, we can move mountains. And, in doing so, together, we shall achieve what future generations will call worthy.

SCHOOL PLAY

Humor played the key role in Central's 1974 play this year. Mr. Keith Yokley directed Hart and Kaufman's play, You Can't Take It With You, presented April 5th and 6th. The play, dealing with the zany Sycamore's humorously complicated antics, was well received by large crowds. The money raised by the event will be used for next year's play.

ALL SMILES FOR

In an attempt to mold tradition with changing times, the Junior and Senior classes decided to have a Prom this year. Because of a lack of student interest, the Prom had been discontinued for several years, but the officers of the respective classes felt that the interest had been revitalized and, by the looks of things, they were right.

Planning for the event began far in advance with such monumental tasks as choosing a band, finding a site, and deciding on a menu. There was a great deal of hard work involved in the preparation, but as the fateful day drew nearer, it all began to seem worth it.

The dinner-dance was held on the evening of Friday, May 10, at the TOP OF THE MART. The featured entertainment was Cut Glass, providing an abundance of rock, "oldie-goldie", and soul. To the students of Central, the year was full of memories; and for many of them, the 1974 Prom had to be one of the best.

The talent show was sponsored by the Student Council as a money making project. With a theme "Grand Central Station" and Emcee's Tom Terrell and Chuck Ballow, the show was well received by the student body who swarmed at the chance to get out of class and view the native talent. The show reaped $732. The money was used, this year, for various Student Council projects including such things as the D.P. Whitley Scholarship, Sophomore Orientation, and the purchase of the two bison. The talent show was such a great success that there are hopes that it will become a tradition at Central.

Facelift for Central

What was a most noticeable change here at Central? There were, of course, several; but this one doesn't take long to spot. Right! The windows. This year, students and faculty alike were happily surprised by the fact that Central was receiving new windows. Although their reward was great, sacrifices were paid to get these luxuries installed. Teachers shouted assignments and students strained to hear them as workmen hammered away. The old windows were replaced primarily because they allowed too much heat to escape from the building. The new windows are tinted and break-resistant. They took nearly a year to install but add a new dimension to that beautiful tradition which has always been Central's.

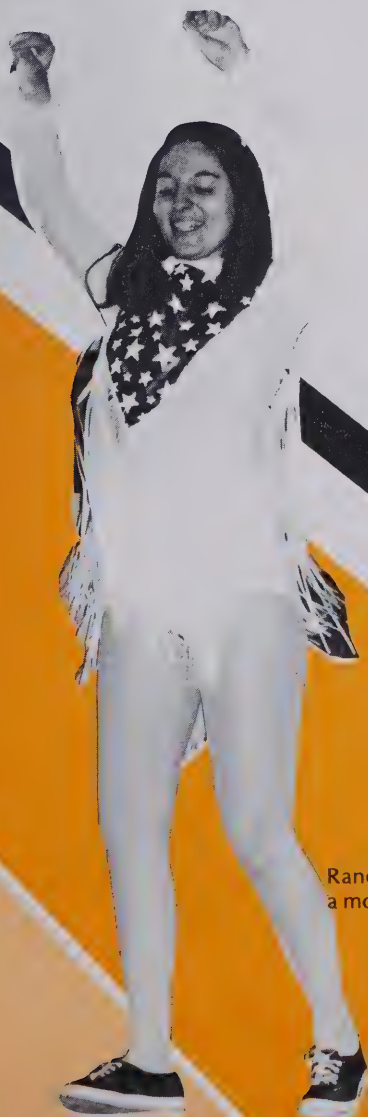

NEW BIKE RACK

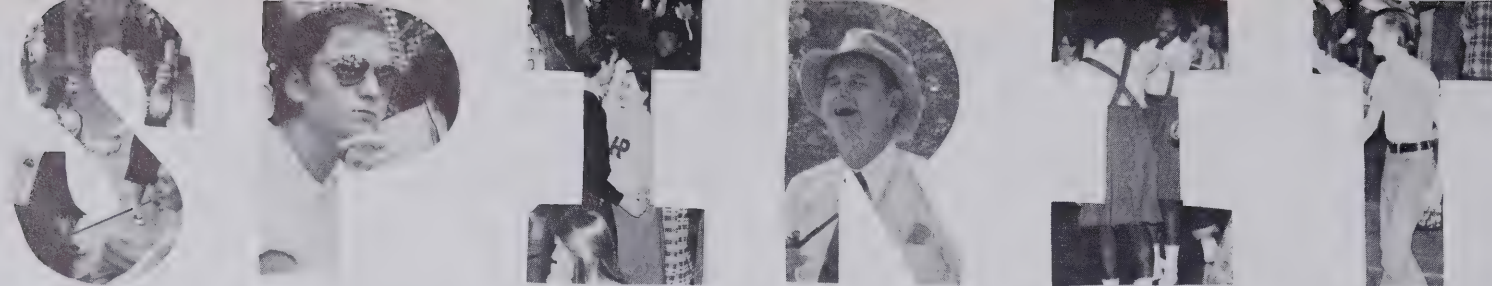

The bicycle rack served as a parking lot for the bikes of many students at Central who found pedaling to school a most economical, ecological, and enjoyable experience. The idea was originated by students, during the gas shortage, to help conserve gas as well as protect our environment. As gas became more available and the weather became more unbearable, the number of riders dwindled.

50's DAY

"If at first you succeed try, try again." That may not be exactly the way this cliché was written, but at HPC it worked. Last year, during America's nostalgia kick, the cheerleaders tried an experiment — 50's Day. The experiment was a success and the conclusion drawn from it was that 50's Day should be tried again. And it was.

The cheerleaders were rather wary of the results, thinking it might not work again. But teachers and students made this year's 50's Day every bit as much of a success as last year's. Slicked back hair, tight pony tails, long skirts, rolled up pants, white socks, red lipstick, tattoos, and chained leather jackets were adorned as Central's portrayal of the 1950's. According to those who experienced the 50's in reality, we may have looked ridiculously overdressed, but that was half the fun of it. The other half took the form of a Sock Hop at which all shoes were shoved aside and all feet were wildly moving. Records from the 50's provided the music for the night.

Webster's Dictionary calls something like 50's Day "nostalgia", but to students and teachers at HPC, 50's Day was just plain fun.

50's Day

Spirit always plays a large part in the life at Central, but there are those days when the spirit is a little more than would be expected. On those days, the cheerleaders very often play the leading role. This year's brainstorm included "Hat Day", the annual eye-opener where anything from army hats to mouse ears may be found covering heads. This idea had been used before, but aroused as much spirit as always. Another day was "Sock Day" and the feet were taken notice of. Then of course, what would the year be like without the traditional "Blue and White Day." Central students and fans adorned themselves with their favorite school colors. New this year was "Tie 'em up Day" on which both guys and gals wore ties of all shapes, colors, and sizes as well as wearing them in many different places. "Rip 'em up Day" was great fun for students who could finally wear their grungiest, dirtiest, most demolished blue jeans, T-shirts, etc. It was probably one of the most comfortable days the kids have ever known. Late in basketball season, the cheerleaders scratched their drained brains and came up with "Button Day." "Country Day" aroused the "down-home" spirit in everybody, turning out checkered shirts, overalls, and cowboy hats. On a "contrast-to-normal" note, the cheerleaders turned quite backwardly to using "Inside-Out Day" on which everybody wore their clothes accordingly. There was also "Senior Day" and a pep rally-skit was given.

The reactions of the students this year were excellent and made the cheerleader's hard work worth it. The spirit of the school was certainly made evident through participation in these spirit days. Whether dressed in blue and white or black, or dressed as a country boy, or as a slob, spirit is the same, and at Central this year spirit made the difference between apathy and enthusiasm which made the difference between failure and success.

Elections for Student Council, Senior Class, and Junior Class officers were held last year in April while Sophomores elected their officers in September, 1974. The elections involved speeches, posters, and campaign buttons.

The competition was tough, mainly because of the enthusiastic speeches by the candidates. More participation in office-running made election time one of the most exciting ones in years.

ANCHOR CLUB

The Anchor Club, although smaller than most service clubs at Central, was one of the most active service clubs. During the fall, members weeded and painted the teachers' parking lot, went to the Anchor Club district convention in Charlotte, and dressed dolls for the Salvation Army.

Some of their weekly and monthly projects included putting flowers in the general and guidance offices, carrying magazines to study halls, tutoring students for the Youth Services Bureau, and helping with night school. Their money-making project was a craft sale at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church. The Anchor Club upholds the standards of their sponsor club the Pilot Club of High Point.

ART CLUB

The High Point Central Art Club visited many local art exhibits during the school year. These included the Art on Paper exhibit at the Witherspoon Art Gallery at U.N.C.G., the Eleventh Annual Craftsman's Fair at the Winston Salem Coliseum, and a visit to the Conrad Art Gallery in High Point.

Their money-making project was a crafts sale at Westchester Mall. All articles sold at the sale were made by the members. The proceeds from the sale went to a field trip which was made in the spring.

MARCHING BAND

Bison Marchers "spell it out" for the crowd with one of their many precision drills.

During this year's concert season, the Concert Band, composed of Sophomores, functioned separately from the Symphonic Band, composed of Juniors and Seniors. Both bands attended the State Contest and held concerts throughout the season. The two bands combined to form the HIGH POINT CENTRAL MARCHING BAND and highlighted half-times at the Bison home games with their various shows. Besides participating in the Band Day Show held in Chapel Hill, the Bison Band also marched in the Shrine Bowl Parade which was held in Charlotte.

The Stage Band plays mostly for civic groups such as the Kiwanis Club and the American Businessmen's Association. The band has also played as entertainment at the Top of the Mart. Each year, the band participates in a Stage Band convention at a North Carolina college or university. This year's Stage Band also performed as a part of the Bicentennial celebration in Greensboro.

"Oh, When the Saints Go Marchin' In!"

The "Boogie-Woogie Bugle Boy" is alive and well in the High Point Central Stage Band. The band plays predominantly music from the Big Band Era, reviving such jazz greats as Duke Ellington and Benny Goodman.

Band members submit applications to band director, Mr. Carter. He then selects the Stage Band on the basis of playing ability. Only those with special talent make up the High Point Central Stage Band.

Students from Central served as hard-working, dependable, and most of all safe school bus drivers this year. The drivers were under the expert supervision of Mr. Kenneth Dickens. The duties of the drivers were to get up early enough to transport two bus loads of students on time for school, then to return them home in the afternoon. The bus drivers faced many uncalled for circumstances, but managed to pull through. Their monthly checks made it all seem worthwhile.

Once again this year our BISONETTE Drill Team entertained during half-time for the football season. The girls put in many hard hours of work under the supervision of Mrs. Nancy Laney, Mrs. Susan Ward, and Mrs. Alice Spruill.

CIVITANS

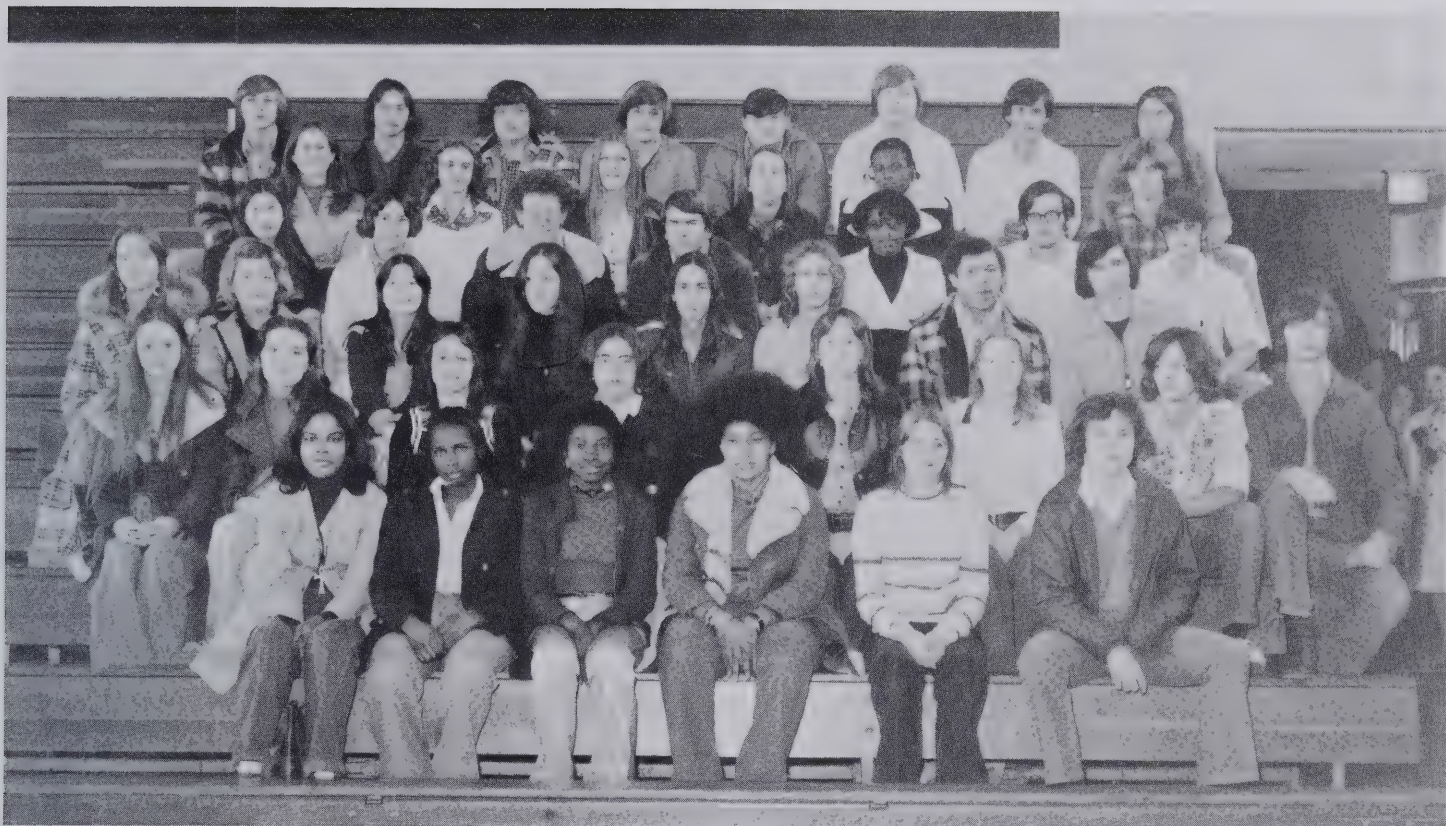

"You missed a spot Rob." Civitan members gave the activity buses a needed cleaning this fall.

In the past few years the Junior Civitan Club has been on the verge of disbanding. Two years ago the club's charter was taken away. Last year the club regained its charter but its members were very inactive. The club almost folded again. This year the club was on probation first semester. Civitans met the challenge and the club finally seems to be on solid ground.

Painting and generally cleaning up a house was the club's money-making project this year. On Saturday morning after every home football game Civitans cleaned the stadium. The club also served "Gator-Ade" to football players at halftime. Other projects included: parking cars at Day-in-the-Park, providing food for a needy family at Christmas, washing the activity buses, and selling fruit cakes for the International Civitans.

Another project the Civitans seemingly have undertaken is boosting school spirit at football and basketball games. They challenged anyone to out-yell them.

DECA

"Distributive Education Clubs of America," that's what DECA stands for. In this club the members learn the basics of salesmanship and distribution. Later in the year DECA students attend district and state competition. Most DECA students work the last half of the school day to polish the skills they have learned.

The Drama Club was organized just this year at Central. Its main purpose was to assist the Drama department with the school play. Members of the club, after seeing the great interest in drama here, decided to sponsor a play of their own, and Diary of Anne Frank was presented to a highly receptive audience.

FCA

Christian Athletes

Filling a bus with Bison athletes heading for FCA camp at Black Mountain, N.C., was the major goal of the unusually active Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Devotional services for all athletes and coaches were held every Friday. On Christian holidays the club gave special services for the community. Spring plans included hosting a Dogmatch Olympic Day for area FCA's.

The group met regularly three times a month for Bible study and fellowship. They ate breakfast and attended church together once a month.

Selling programs at football and basketball games was the job of the Pep Club, whose president was Susie Bland. They assisted in selling basketball season tickets and sold booster buttons. A float was built by the members as part of the homecoming festivities.

FHA

Members of Future Homemakers of America cooked up many projects to make the year a successful one. Their service projects included baking cookies for a rest home and hosting an Easter egg hunt for a children's home. The most significant money-making project of the club was the selling of PEMICAN covers.

HEROES

The HEROES Club, consisting of girls interested in Home Economics and Related Occupations, was kept busy this year by many assorted projects. To ease financial worries, the club sold Christmas candles. The club's service projects included walking in the Cerebral Palsy Walk-a-thon and keeping the auditorium and home economics lounge clean.

The Futurists Club is one of the newest service clubs at Central this year. Since its founding during the 1973-74 school year its members have been striving to provide other members of the public with the chance to become involved with every type of Science Fiction that exists. The members of the Futurists Club attended the World Science Fiction Convention during this past year.

During this past year, the Interact Club has not let up on its services to the school. Its members have kept the trash cans emptied and helped out as parking guides during a State-wide school meeting. They have kept the student-body informed about the up-coming events with the monthly calendar that they put out.

They have also been of considerable service to the community this year. On Halloween they escorted some young goblins around to gather up some treats and on Thanksgiving they gave two turkeys to needy families.

Throughout High Point, the Jr. Jaycees donated their time and energy to service for their peers and neighbors. The projects ranged from running the concession stand at HPC basketball games to helping at the High Point Fair. Many of the club's projects were done in assistance to the High Point Jaycees. These included the deliverance of telephone books, helping with paper drives, coaching a basketball team at the YMCA, and answering telephones from 9:00 PM to 7:30 AM for the "Jerry Lewis Telethon." The Jr. Jaycees were busy during the year with many important projects.

Developing leadership and friendship among members and providing service for both school and community, the Key Club carried out various projects during the year. To start the year off on the right foot, the club won first place in the homecoming competition with the display of "Grauman's Bison Theater." Major projects included sponsoring the annual Diabetes Bike-a-Thon, publishing the Student Directory, assisting the Model Cities Commission in various aspects at Christmas, and ushering at all home basketball games.

KEYETTES

Before the opening of school, Keyettes began a busy year by cleaning the auditorium. They continued the pace in service for Central by preparing sandwiches for the football and baseball players at all of the home games, serving refreshments at teachers' meetings and during NFL tournaments, working the spotlight for home basketball games, and baking cakes for the fall and winter sports teams and teachers. Some of their projects which involved service to their community were stamping bags for the Arts Council's Day in the Park, setting up a hot chocolate stand at the Thanksgiving parade, making sock dolls for the children's ward at the hospital, and assembling fruit baskets for needy families at Christmas.

Parade viewers enjoy Keyettes' coffee and hot chocolate.

The Library Club is comprised of students who work one hour each day assisting the librarians. The main project of the Club was the Book Fair. At this time it presented a display of paperback books which could be ordered.

Membership in the Math Club is open to students who are participating in a math course at the level of Algebra II or above and who have maintained a "B" average in that course. The main project of the 1974-75 Math Club was a book sale, the proceeds of which went towards the purchase of Analytic Geometry books for the school. Many members volunteered their time to tutor fellow students having a math difficulty.

COMPETITIVE FORENSICS LEAGUE

The Forensics program at Central strives to achieve leadership and responsibility through effective public speaking. Through the able leadership of Mrs. Rachel Roberts and Mr. Mike Pierce, Central's competitive speech and debate organization holds a reputation for being one of the best such organizations in the country. This year, compiling impressive records in each, members attended tournaments in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Roanoke, Atlanta, Miami, and many within North Carolina. For the past seven years contestants from Central have qualified for the national debate and speech tournaments. This year the tournament was held in Dallas, Texas.

ORCHESTRA

Members of the High Point Central Orchestra strived for a higher level of performance as individuals and as a group, according to their conductor Barry Ruth.

The Orchestra consisted of nineteen winds and brasses and twenty-six strings. The string orchestra rehearsed daily during third period while the full orchestra rehearsed outside of school hours.

The Orchestra's schedule included many concerts, such as their Christmas concert at Emerywood Baptist Church. They participated in the All-City Orchestra which performed in the new Andrews auditorium. In the spring they traveled to Salisbury, where they participated in the festival there.

For most students, the closing of school marked an ending, but for the 1974-75 PEMICAN staff, it was only the beginning. On June 6th 1974, 20 members of the staff attended a yearbook workshop at Longwood College in Farmville, Va. There they learned the basics of publishing a yearbook.

No one can imagine the many hours of hard work which go into putting a yearbook out, that is until you have served on the staff. This year's staff has been more involved in the publication, and in return, they decided to involve you, the individual students by sending out questionnaires and interviewing students.

"Good Luck" to next year's staff . . . You'll need it.

PEMICAN

The Pointer staff was making a real effort to try to include as many students as possible this year. A larger paper with a more pictorial format included student and teacher profiles, puzzles, a schedule of events from the Greensboro Coliseum and expanded coverage of girls' sports. With a determined staff, a dedicated advisor, Mrs. Packard, and a special asset, Mr. Lamm — the year was a great success.

PEMICAN

The Pemican business staff, under the direction of Miss Gail Harris, had a great year. Students on the staff were excused every day during seventh period for the first half of the year in quest of merchants to buy advertising space in the Pemican. If not for the sincere efforts of the members of the Pemican business staff, the annual would not be what it is.

Science

Under the capable leadership of its new officers, the science club began rebuilding after a year of probation. The club featured many speakers and other activities that allowed science-oriented students to come together in an atmosphere of learning.

¡Español!

The Spanish Club had many worthwhile projects this year, such as giving a party for second grade students at Tomlinson and sponsoring plays for the Spanish classes here. The club sold candy to raise money for their scholarships, and co-sponsored "Language Week", which promoted foreign languages at Central.

El Club Español turo algunos proyectos muy importantes este año. Ellos fueron ofrecer una fiesta para los estudiantes en el Segundo Grado en la Escuela Tomlinson. Asimismo presentaron piezas teatrales de corta duración en esa escuela. El Club este año vendió dulces con la idea de recaudar fondos para una beca, y Asimismo el Club Espanol conjuntamente con el Club Frances auspició la Semana del Lenguaje en la Escuela Central.

Transform an empty abandoned room into a horrifying den of spooks. That's what subjunior did by participating in the Youth Council haunted house. They served the community and school by collecting money for Unicef and food for the Salvation Army, helping the Hospital Guild during the furniture market, serving refreshments at PTSA, and planting a chestnut tree at school. Money for these projects came from the Children's Christmas Craft Workshop. The group, led by Julie Baker, also helped their parent club, Junior Woman's Club, with the Egamur, a rummage sale.

Homecoming '74

There was a change coming; you could feel it. It was the fall of 1974, the time of year when the leaves were beginning to fall off the trees and the air was turning crisp and more refreshing. It was the time when students all-over had begun to feel a little something different inside. Here at Central, a feeling of belonging, a sense of responsibility and a need for spirit became evident; for Homecoming '74 was approaching and everyone knew it.

The event itself means many different things to many different people. To the graduated alumni who return, what is Homecoming? Is it a football game? A winning float? A pretty Homecoming queen? No, to them the event has a little deeper meaning. It is their invitation to return and visit their alma mater. It is a time for reunion and reflection; an opportunity to visit the people, places, and things that have had such an overwhelming influence on their lives. It is a chance to look back on their youthfulness.

What, then, does Homecoming mean to this young generation, the present inhabitants of Central? For us it could not be a time of reflection for we have little to reflect upon. Perhaps it is an opportunity to greet our friends who have been away at college, or a time to look at what this world has done for those who were here before us. For a few, perhaps, but not for most. To these it is many sleepless nights of float construction, and long parties after all construction is finished. It's going into the community asking for donations, and it's getting caught when you get donations without asking. It is working with your buddies to win first place, or it is working against them so that they won't. It is neglected homework, and sometimes nonunderstanding teachers. It is voting for a homecoming court, and wondering why the one you voted for didn't get chosen. It is being one of the privileged eight who get out on Friday to work on their club's float, or it is being one of the many who have to sit in class that day and listen to all of the noise and confusion outside. It's a lot of work and frustration; but, most of all, it's a lot of fun. And, of course, it is a football game, a lost football game at that. But did that loss matter? Was the whole meaning and purpose of homecoming lost? No, of course not. Regardless of the outcome — the caring, the involvement, and the spirit would have been there still. They had to be; for without them, Homecoming wouldn't have been what it was; and "boy" was it something!

Homecoming — it's not just one special day in the course of a school year. It's weeks of planning and working together to reach a common goal. It's the big game on Friday night and the big mess on Saturday morning. It's tension, anxiety, and defeat. It's pretty girls, alumni, and cheering. It's feeling tired, and excited and proud, all at the same time. And when it's all over, and the fun is past, you know something has happened that, probably, will never happen again . . . Homecoming, Bison Night at the Movies, October 18, 1974.

Mike Williams hits a clean single down the third base line.

HPC's 1974 baseball team experienced a somewhat dismal campaign, finishing up with a 4-13 regular season record. The team finished 8th in the conference, but came back to finish 4th in the post-season tournament. The team was led by Robert Edwards with his outstanding pitching and Mike Williams and Joey Winfrey at the plate. John Suggs made the all-conference team. As only two starters were lost to graduation, the Bison are looking forward to a better 1975 campaign.

1st Row, L-R: S. Kearse, D. Watts, J. Bouldin, K. Millar, P. Clark, P. Barnes, G. Lewis. 2nd Row, L-R: J. Brown, B. Cook, C. Harrington, G. Roberts, S. Bohannon, J. Meisky, K. Spaugh, J. Randle.

With Pam Clark and Cindy Harrington leading the way as outstanding players, the girls' softball team completed a very successful season. The girls finished the season as conference champions with a perfect 10-0 record. They then advanced to the conference tournament where they made quite a showing. They left the tournament as the consolation bracket winners. All in all, the season ended up with an excellent 12-1 record. When the girls' softball team says, "Batter-up," they aren't kidding!

BOYS' TENNIS

High Point Central's tennis team closed out their season tied for second in the district with an 11-2 record. The netters' only losses came in the matches with Page and Reynolds. Bill Utley advanced to the state tournament, while the netters, overall, finished second in the western sectionals behind Reynolds.

Other outstanding players were Mike Doobrow and Smith Anderson, who finished second in sectional play. In doubles matches, John McKenzie and Mike Doobrow showed their excellent ability. This year's outstanding team was coached by Larry Younts.

This year's cindermen, coached by Paul Hutchins and Roy Boyles, closed out their season by finishing fifth out of sixteen teams in the conference.

The Bison were paced this year by Earl Martin, who finished first in the city-county meet, and Walker Lee, who now holds the school record in the pole vault with a 12 ft. 6 in. vault. Other leaders were John Ferriter, who captured the school record in both the high jump and hurdles, and the 880 relay team of Davis, Franklin, Mock, and Green, who hold the school record in that event. Earl Martin also showed his outstanding 440 talents as he teamed with Davis, Mock, and Ingram to capture the school record in the mile relay.

Coached by Pat Withers, the 1974 Golf team finished 13th in the state, and 10th in the district. Under the leadership of Barry Nelson and Robert Davis, who received the "Most Valuable Golfer" award, the team ended the season with a 16-8 overall record.

Long jump, the hurdles, high jump, relays, and individual runs — these were the events of girls' track. The 1973-1974 track season proved to be filled with both team and individual efforts. Individuals who went as far as the state meet were Dora Holmes, in the 110 yard hurdles, and Cynthia Quick in the long jump. Although the girls finished with a 3-4 record, they have big hopes for next year as many juniors return.

Dora Holmes clears the last hurdle in a close race.

Cross-Country

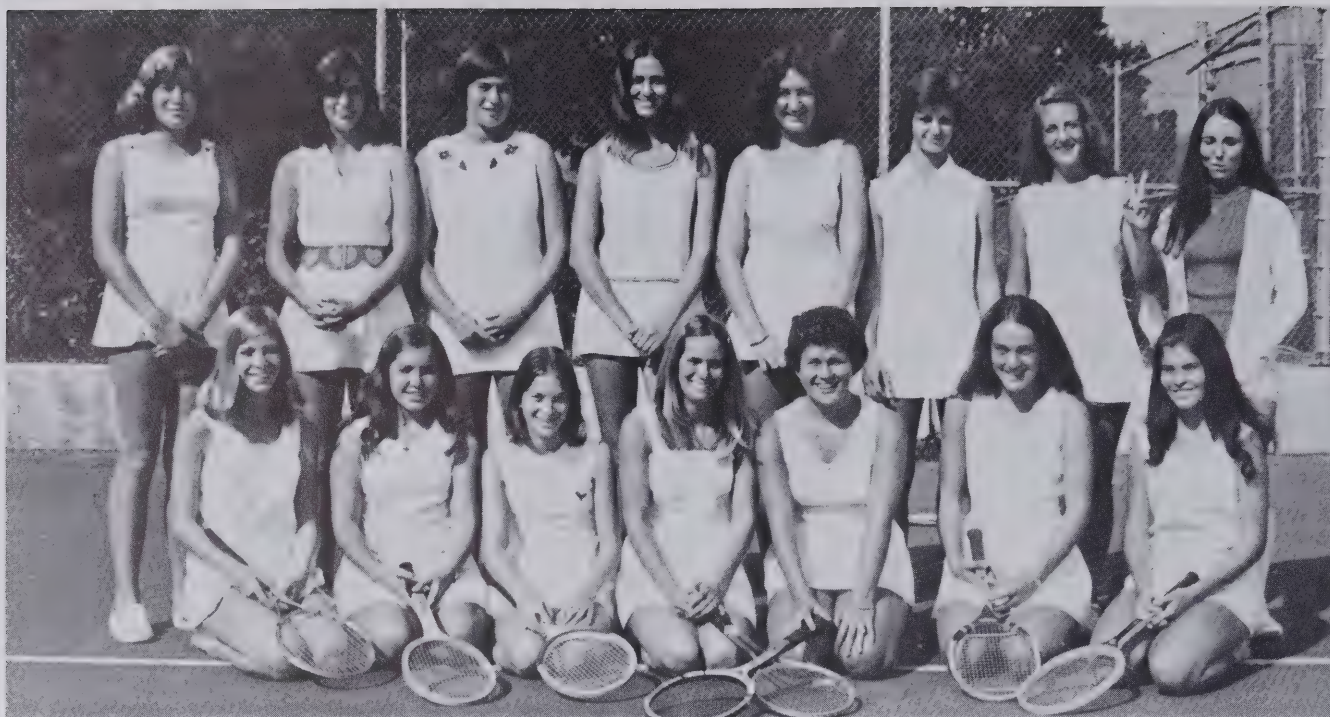

Three and one-half miles a day. That's what one has to run if he wants to participate on the HPC Cross-Country team. This year it proved to be worthwhile to run that distance as the team finished out another outstanding year with an 8-4 record. This year's runners were paced by Royster Tucker, who constantly finished in the top three finishers, and Wade Leach, who finished well in the sectionals at Duke University. This year's team, coached by Rick Motsinger, was young, with no seniors, giving them great hopes for a fine season next year.

HPC houses the Billie Jean Kings and Chris Everts of the future. The lady netters finished the season with a 9-4 overall record and a 3rd place finish in the conference. The outstanding lady netter was Nancy Beaver, who advanced to the finals of the sectional tourney, enabling her to compete in the state tourney where she made it to the quarter finals. Another outstanding tennis participant was Connie McCuiston who advanced to the second round of the sectional tournament. In doubles play, Jennie Hayworth and Julie Randle advanced to the quarter finals in the sectional tournament.

GIRLS TENNIS

August 5, at 3 o'clock, that's the time of year when football starts at HPC; and this year more than 100 men came to the gym, ready to play. The Bison had more juniors than anything else, and by the end of the season these juniors would make up over three-quarters of the team.

The Bison finished the season with a 2-8 record, 5th in the conference. The team was plagued by injuries, several resulting in hospitalization; and this kept valuable players sidelined.

This year's team was paced by such leaders as George Curtis, who rushed for 100 yards a game many times. Shining on defense was Lawrence Moser, who was cited for his hard hitting.

1974 was a special year for the Bison. When they ran out on the field for the opening game they found themselves in a new setting, the A.J. Simeon stadium. With its aluminum benches, concrete walls, and professionally sewn turf it stands as a tribute to one of the outstanding football programs in the state.

Though the Bison didn't have a successful season, they still have a new stadium and many returning juniors to build a brighter season next year.

High Point Central's junior varsity football team swept the conference, and most of their opponents, to compile a 7-1-1 record. The JV's began their season by rolling over Ragsdale 25-14 and then stumbling against Thomasville 12-8. But after a week of hard practice, the Bison came out with the winning combination that carried them through the rest of the season. The JV's polished off such opponents as Dudley, Smith, Burlington, Andrews, and Page. The sophomores that make up this year's JV team give Central a promising future in the years ahead. High Point Central's basketball team opened the season against Wilmington-New Hanover. The team played well but numerous turnovers spelled defeat. The cagers played .500 ball up to the Holiday Tournament. Central was runner-up in the tournament. The final score of the championship game was 64-62 in favor of Andrews. Keever Lambeth was selected to the all-tournament team.

Central was host to Dudley on January 24th. Keever Lambeth scored 38 points to lead the team to victory in one of the greatest individual efforts of the season.

The highlight of the season had to be the game against Page. Going into the game, Page was 15-1 and at the top of the league standings. The Bison cagers beat Page 67-65 in a thrilling victory. Mike Doobrow and Fred Teague led the scoring with 15 and 18 points respectively.

The Bison were led all season by Keever Lambeth and Willie Jones, both of whom are juniors. Since this year's J.V. team finished the regular season in 2nd place and last year's J.V. team was the conference champ, the school has high hopes for next year.

CONFERENCE CHAMPS THREE YEARS IN A ROW

Coach Pat Hester offers words of wisdom, wit, and strategy to the Bison gals.

1974-75 was a year of apprehension for the Bison gals. The team was very young, consisting of only two seniors. But hard work and determination, good coaches, and team effort brought about the third consecutive girls' conference champions at HPC. The Bison gals amassed a 15-1 record to lead the conference while maintaining a 15-4 overall record. Leading the team this year was Julie Randle, a junior who stood as the leading scorer and rebounder. Seniors Brenda Cook and Kathy Spaugh held up the team's offensive duties while Cynthia Quick and Jeannie Meisky, both juniors, were outstanding defenders.

Bison losses this year went to Ragsdale and Westchester. According to Coaches Pat Hester and Andrea Cozart, these were two very strong teams, against whom the Bison effort was highly commendable. With only two seniors leaving, the much-improving young Bison team should be at the top again next year . . . maybe to be the conference champs four years in a row!?

WRESTLING

The matmen of High Point Central finished a difficult season this year. The matmen were plagued by injuries and inexperience throughout the year. Yet they still managed to come up with a decisive victory over Dudley. Experience and many returning starters will be the hope of the Bison wrestling team next year.

The High Point Central swim team finished another outstanding year compiling a nearly flawless season. The "Blue Whales" breezed through their schedule losing only to Grimsley. This years' team was lead by co-captains, Jay Boyles and Buzz Waller. Other outstanding swimmers were Kevin Creede, Alan Post, and Dick Cottam. The unbeaten team of Boyles, Waller, Cottam, and Post went unbeaten in the 200 yd. medley. Molly Millis and Susie Bland were the outstanding girl swimmers.

Varsity cheerleaders complete their cheer and prepare to turn a cartwheel.

If you were a cheerleader you'd remember all the summer days you spent trying out and then learning the cheers after you made the squad. You'd remember "Hat Day" and all the other "days" you helped sponsor. You'd remember all the Pep rallies and all the things you helped do for the team members, such as the party you gave the football players after the last game. And for years to come people will remember you, and how much you gave to Central.

Varsity cheerleaders lead the crowd in a cheer during a time-out.

Just drive up Bellevue Ave. and you're at the new A. J. Simeon Stadium.

A. J. Simeon began his teaching career at High Point in 1937 when he became a coach at High Point High School (now Central). While at Central he coached basketball, football, track, and golf. His record of three state championships in basketball and two runners-up titles in football prove that he was an outstanding coach. In 1968 he was appointed athletic director and still serves the city schools in this capacity.

On October 25, 1974, the A. J. Simeon Stadium was given its official dedication. The ceremony took place at half time during the Central-Andrews football game. A reception was held in the cafeteria at High Point Central High School after the game.

Among the honored guests were Dr. Dean Pruitt, Reverend Richard Crowder, and members of the Simeon family. The football players from all the junior highs and the j. v. teams of Central and Andrews were recognized at the ceremony.

The dedication marked the end of nearly two years of work on the stadium. Through good weather and bad, workers laid the foundations, poured the concrete, and put down the soft green turf to complete the stadium.

On April 4, 1974, the City Council named the new stadium after A. J. Simeon, athletic director for High Point City Schools.

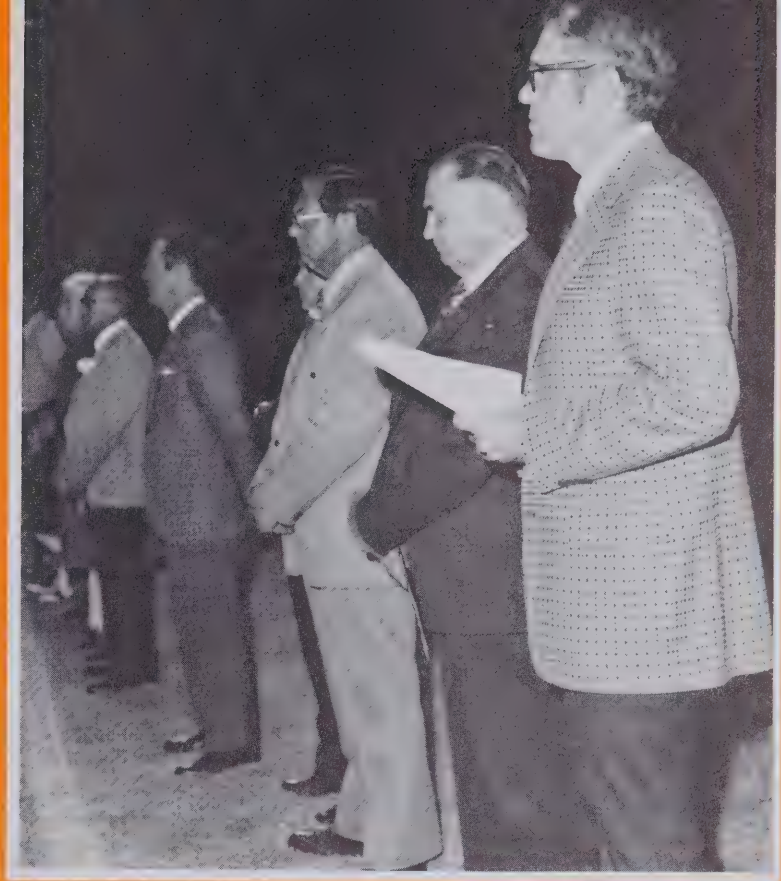

The dedication serves as a memorial to the 37 years that Mr. Simeon has served the city school system.

Nothing but the best equipment was used in the building of the stadium.

ENGLISH

Hoping to provide a variety of courses from which the student can select, the English Department added two new courses this year to the already flexible program. "Multimedia: The Family," and "Modern Poetry," are the two newest additions. By providing the students with an opportunity to select their own courses, the program has become more geared to the individual student's ability, interest, and need, thus encouraging the student to respond genuinely . . . both emotionally and intellectually to the literary work.

To the delight of many, the Shakespearean players held a workshop before performing.

Bringing in outside groups is a valuable teaching method.

HISTORY

The activities of a Psychology class are sometimes astounding.

Although no changes were made in the curriculum this year, the History Department began to turn away from teaching strictly history and attempted to make the courses seem more relevant to the times. This was achieved partly by bringing various resource people inside the school to talk to the students as well as by taking the students out into the community on field trips. The teachers of the nine history courses, ranging from Western and Eastern Cultures to Psychology and Sociology, tried to emphasize the human relationship of social studies to everyone in all of their classes.

DRIVER EDUCATION PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Gym offers a chance to get involved in a challenging game of basketball.

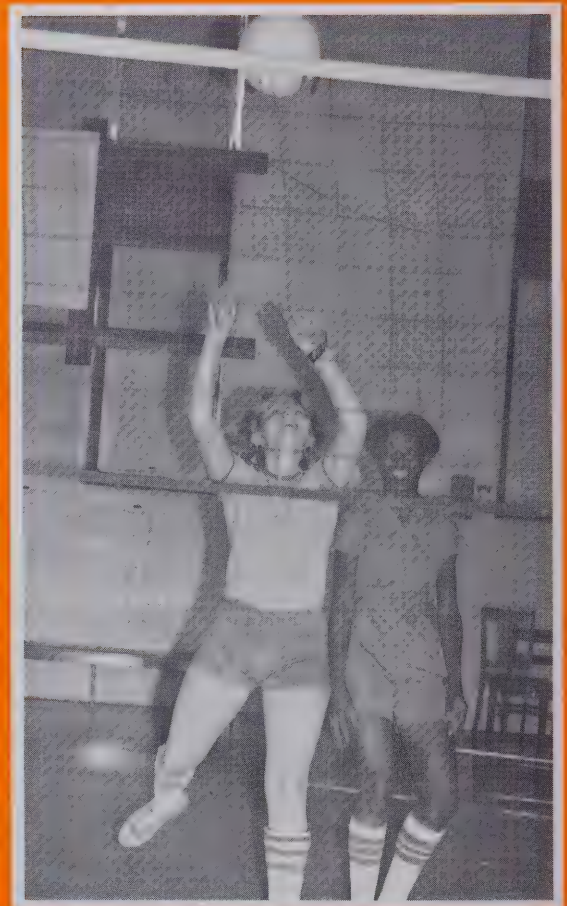

Girls involved with physical education this year took part in many, widely varied sports ranging from football to folk dancing to ping pong. Muscles were strengthened and pounds disappeared as the girls perfected their skills in tennis, gymnastics, and other sports.

Boys took part in many of the same sports as the girls. Lively games of football and basketball were participated in on fair days while volleyball, basketball, and weight-lifting were available on messy days.

To the unlicensed student, Driver Education was probably the most looked-forward-to course at Central. Basic fundamentals were taught in a classroom phase for a total of eighteen hours after the student moved behind the wheel to test his driving skills.

Cornelius Quick centers his concentration on driving as Coach Carden directs him as to his destination.

Jack Hollbrook plays his trumpet as Tim Turnage awaits his turn to play.

Music could be heard flowing through the halls of Central as choral groups, bands, and the orchestra all worked hard in their striving for perfection. Three choral groups met during the school day while an ensemble met each Monday night. The orchestra met third period while concert, symphonic, and stage bands practiced daily.

Offered to the artistically inclined student at Central were four levels of art. Students worked in ceramics, painting, stitchery, and block printing to perfect their abilities as art history was worked into the course to add to their knowledge.

FINE ARTS

FOREIGN LANG

During Foreign Language Week the separate departments, building on the basic knowledge acquired through their studies, used interest and cultural enhancement as a springboard to activities. The different departments brought to the student body colorful displays, skits, and examples of the native foods and dances.

LIBRARY, HOME ECONOMICS

Miss Stout helps J. Rorie, T. Steele, C. Parsons, J. Rorie, and S. Scoggins in dressing a baby doll.

Our school library not only provided us with books and reference information in the past year, but also with our Audio-Visual equipment. The library has been building up these aids all year. During the year the library sponsored a book fair where the students could buy books in order to build up their home libraries. With 12 assistants, that have been working in the library all year, it has been available during the day for students and faculty.

Through Home Economics, male and female students learned the basic skills of homemaking, including cooking and sewing. The Home Economics Program was designed to prepare the students for a future as a homemaker.

Carl Manning directs two other Auto Mechanics students in the art of changing a tire.

AUTO MECHANICS, BRICKLAYING

This year has been an eventful one for Auto Mechanics and Bricklaying students. High Point Central students enrolled in these courses had to commute to T.W. Andrews where the courses were taught. Two new buildings went up at Andrews this year with help from the Bricklaying classes. In Auto Mechanics some cars were repaired and a new car-wash added.

WOOD, METAL, FURNITURE

The Metal department received a new piece of equipment for Christmas — a Bridgeport milling machine. Students interested in metal learned basic skills the first year and applied them the second year.

The furniture industry is the main concern of the Furniture department. Furniture II students were taught how to operate machines and the basic skills for producing furniture.

Two Furniture II students are proficient at upholstering a chair.

GRAPHICS

Graphics, a course dealing with printing and advertising, was taught this year for two periods in Graphics I and three periods in Graphics II. Most of the students' experience came from printing football and basketball programs, the POINTER, and report cards.

MATH

For many students, disbelief is an important part of math.

Both college bound and vocationally oriented students were able to find a math course that fit their personal needs this year at Central. Students could choose from twelve different math courses ranging from General Math to Analysis and Analytic Geometry. A new idea was tried this year for the people who felt that math wasn't their bag, but needed to have Algebra. A two-year course called Aglebra I-A and I-B was begun last fall. The objective of the course was to allow students to learn Algebra I at their own rate. Independent study courses were also offered for the students that could not fit the right math course into their schedules. The Mathematics Department was very successful this year, as in other years, in achieving its philosophy of building a solid foundation in math that students will use both today and tomorrow in college or on the job.

The people in math classes stay busy and usually keep the teacher busy, too.

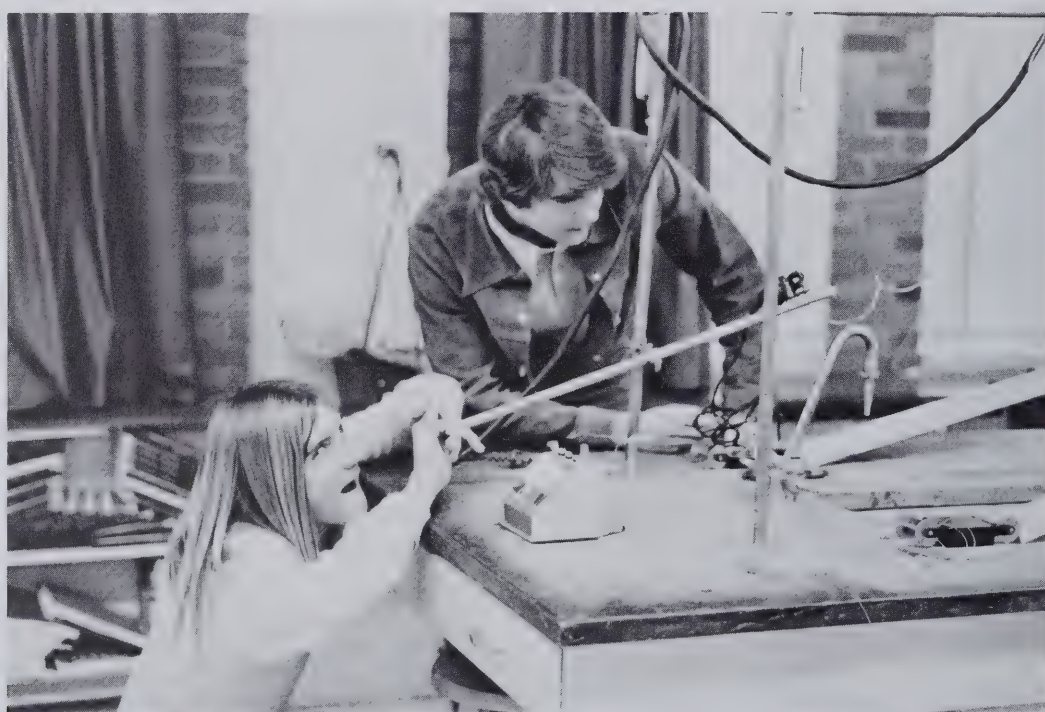

The school year of 1974-75 was a year of innovations for the Science Department at Central. The first major change was the IIS Biology and Physical Science courses. Each day, the students in these courses had a lab session that taught specific concepts in science. The second innovation in the Science Department was two experimental classes in biology that took one semester of basic biology and the second semester was a special mini-course on a different field of science. The department hopes that next year's biology students will be able to choose a mini-course from possibilities such as zoology, botany, environmental biology, and a course called "People Problems." Chemistry and physics classes, along with anatomy, remained strong this year in their fields of study as the Science Department grew to meet more students' needs with college preparatory and daily living courses.

ECOLOGY BISON

Have you ever started something you thought was impossible, and then accomplished it? Shocked, weren't you?

That was the unanimous feeling of Mrs. Davis' 1974 Ecology Class.

The class decided they wanted to buy an animal for the new North Carolina Zoo located in Asheboro. Someone suggested a Peacock. Or was it an African Turtle? They finally came to a decision . . . a BISON! With a little bit of "persuasivism" from Mr. Shaver, they decided to try for two BISON.

They opened the project to the school. The Ecology Class would sponsor the drive. Their only rule was that no money would be asked for from outside of Central. Students, parents, and clubs contributed generously.

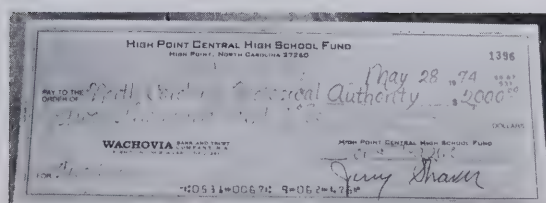

They never thought that they would reach the $2000.00 mark, but after only two and a half weeks, members of the class met in the Teacher's Lounge and presented the check for $2000.00 to the Zoo Director, William Hoff.

Thanks to the many students, parents, and clubs who gave generously, the North Carolina Zoological Park will have our mascot.

Zoo Director, William Hoff and his Secretary express thanks to the class and school.

How can we pay tribute to a man who has devoted his life to the welfare of others, who has supplied brilliant leadership in one of the nation's most trying eras, who at times has stood fast in the face of severe criticism? The task is a difficult one; but we will try, in this brief space, to pay tribute to such a man — Dr. Dean B. Pruette, who is nearing the end of his twenty-third year as Superintendent of the High Point City Schools.

Perhaps our best approach is to look at the man himself — a student, a teacher, a family man, a leader, at times a fighter — for too, is necessary.

Dean B. Pruette was one of children, whose father died when he was 12 years old. When he reached college age, the depression had hit the country and money was scarce. However, he entered Boiling Springs Junior College (now Gardner-Webb College) and after finishing there, enrolled in nearby Limestone College. One year while taking courses there, he did janitorial work at an elementary school in Boiling Springs for $10 a month to help pay expenses.

He received his A.B. degree from Limestone in 1933, and the next year the same school board that had offered him a job starting fires in the morning and sweeping the school building in the afternoon offered him the position of teaching a fifth grade. This he accepted, and in that experience he found the profession he wished to follow.

In 1942 he received his M.A. degree from the University of North Carolina and in 1953 a Doctor's degree of Education from Teachers College, Columbia University.

There followed others years of teaching, a principalship in Shelby and one in Valdese. Then in 1942 he came to High Point as principal of Ferndale Junior High. He brought with him his wife, Rosalie, and his two young children, Marilyn and Dean Mac. Another son, David, was born in High Point. Today he boasts three grandsons.

Mrs. Pruette, like her husband, has been a teacher during most of her years in High Point, first as an elementary teacher and later as an elementary librarian.

During World War II from 1944-1946 Mr. Pruette served as Lieutenant Senior Grade in the United States Navy. During that time he studied military government at Princeton University and the Japanese language at Harvard. Later he served in Japan for seven months as military government officer.

In 1946 he returned to High Point and resumed his position at Ferndale Junior High.

When Superintendent Charles F. Carroll was called to Raleigh to fill the post of State Superintendent of Public instruction in 1952, Dean B. Pruette was elected to fill his position here as Superintendent of the High Point City Schools.

Dr. Pruette's years since he assumed this office have been busy ones. Seven new schools and a new stadium have been built. Additions have been made to almost all of the other schools and to the administration building. This has involved skillful planning and careful use of funds.

Certainly the greatest success of the years between 1954 and today is the achievement of total integration without serious mishaps — some problems, yes, but none that have not been overcome with patient handling and a sincere desire of both races to achieve a common goal — to give all children the same opportunity for education. Dr. Pruette deserves much credit for his positive leadership which brought about a smooth transition in the desegregation of the faculty as well as the student population.

He developed an innovative desegregation plan through the use of satellite districts which did not allow any school to have more than 15 percent above the actual city-wide percentage of minority students. The plan was accepted by the court, has operated successfully here, and in one form or another has been imitated in many other systems.

Throughout his years as superintendent he has recommended adequate financial aid to the classroom in the form of teacher salaries, instructional materials and equipment; and has encouraged the utilization of federal funds to support new educational techniques.

His contributions to church, civic, and professional organizations can be mentioned only briefly here; but the range is broad. In the First Baptist Church he has served as chairman of the Board of Deacons and teacher of the Adult Men's Sunday School Class.

Professionally he has been president of the Western District of the North Carolina Education Association, state president of the North Carolina Elementary School Principals, and president of the North Carolina Chapter of the Horace Mann League. For three years he was a member of the Executive Council of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He was past chairman of the Executive Committee of the North Carolina In-School Television Experiment. In October 1960, with 24 other United States educators, he traveled in Russia, studying the educational system there.

In civic life his interests have definitely shown his concern for people and his desire to help them find a better life. In 1965 he received the Silver Beaver Award, the highest honor bestowed on a Boy Scout leader. For several terms he was chairman of the High Point Housing Authority and for many years a member of the Board of Directors of the local Y.M.C.A., as well as being chairman of the Program Committee of the Y.M.C.A. of the Carolinas and a member of the Interstate Committee. In 1956 he served as president of the local Executives' Club. He is an active member of the local Rotary Club.

How can we possibly know the scope of the man's influence on the lives of countless individuals, so many of whom have never really known him? How can the American still express the appreciation of all who have profited from his efforts and his dedication to the betterment of his fellow man?

Dr. Pruette, today—Superintendent of High Point City Schools.

SENIORS

From inferiority to superiority, from slipping on a brand new pair of skates to sitting in the driver's seat of a brand new car; from learning the ABC's to studying Newton's Law of Physics; all in a matter of twelve short years. The year we have looked forward to for so long has come and gone like a dream, leaving behind fond memories and experiences, the likes of which we will never experience again.

We are Seniors, and the future is upon us. For twelve years we have existed with the thirst for education, now for some of us, that thirst has been quenched and we are ready to exist on the storehouse of knowledge, responsibility, respectability, and maturity that has accumulated. For others, colleges, two, three, four or more years of work and study to further prepare ourselves for the outside world.

We have been taught, guided, advised. We have conquered our doubts, chosen our goals, and now are preparing for the future when we will be the participants, not just the spectators in society. Our time has come. We must now leave the past and build the future.

Seniors cool off a bit before Awards Assembly.

Just a little bit longer and it will be all over.

Seniors say their final good-byes as they prepare to leave Central.

GRADUATION

Prospective Lees McRae students listen to the usual sales pitch and wonder what the truth really is.

Sandi Barbee admires the Civinettes homecoming float.

The girls' tennis team gains a victory as Jennie Hayworth blasts a volley past her opponent.

Rob Bernot carefully uses his artistic talents on the Civitan float.

Lunch time is spent in meditation by Dee Walker.

Heidi Athanas works diligently preparing the senior class float for judging.

David Payne and Joey Winfrey get caught in the act of sneaking into the girls bathroom.

Leroy Jordan consults an advisor on college.

Drum major, Tom Terrell, watches bison run a great play.

Juniors representing the well-rounded Class of '76 are (clockwise) Kent Byrd escorting Kim Shaver, John Probert, Ray Freeman, and Elizabeth Douglass.

JUNIORS

Being a Junior . . .

It's reminiscing the past; looking back at our first year at Central, laughing at our mistakes, and crying over that which we neglected to do.

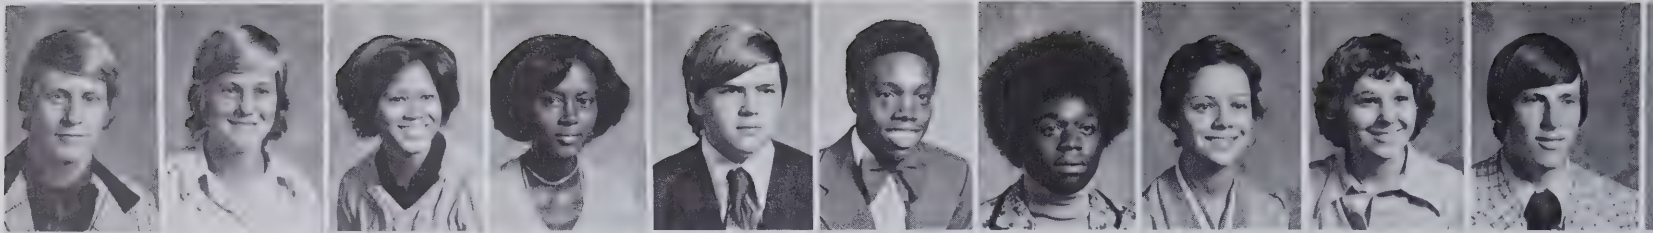

It's enjoying the present; the retrospection along with the anticipation, the security of having a place in the school, and a class ring.

It's looking to the future, our last year at Central; pursuing a career, choosing a college, and making decisions.

It's the time for us to correct our past, as well as plan the future. Here we are now and now is our time . . . what's done is done, what's coming is coming, what's now is now.

For some Sophomores, finding the way around the school is harder than a Geometry class.

It didn't take long for the girls to form their "groups".

SOPHOMORES

Jumping from Junior High to Senior High can really be an experience, particularly here at Central. The chains of maturity and respect which we had forged were all but broken as we began to realize that, once again, we were the little people. We were the Sophomores. We had to adjust to new friends, new teachers, and new ideas, but the change was a welcome one. It made us feel a little older, a little more knowledgeable, a little more experienced, and most of all, a little more important; a feeling we will long remember.

 Zimmerman, Deborah 194,195

Life. It has taken us from a carefree, childish existence in a simple world to a world so complex, so filled with technology, competition, bureaucratic prices, and constant struggles for survival, that some find it very hard to keep up the pace. But, even though we have come a long way, we have only begun to face this world. We are now being readied, educated, prepared, so that one day, soon, very soon, we will have the ability and confidence to go our own ways, to blaze our own trails in the annals of history.

The past year has added much to our lives. We have had our trials and tribulations, our meaningful times of joy, happiness, excitement and anticipation, and equally meaningful, but not so well remembered, times of sorrow, sadness, worry, and concern over things past. But we have not been halted. On the contrary, we have come out of it, for the most part, as better people. All we have to do is look and we can see that beneath all of the complex outlays of life there is meaning and direction to be found. And this year, we have found a part of it.

It isn't the end; as a matter of fact, it's only the beginning — the beginning of a new life. And, in looking back, we've gotten off to a great start — TOGETHER.

A yearbook is something different to everybody, and the staff of the Pemican has the responsibility for compiling and compressing the activities, emotions, and trials of a school year into 240 pages of everyone's concept of a yearbook. Even though the planning began before the end of May 1974, we were continually learning what is involved in creating a yearbook throughout this school year. Without the cooperation of so many people you wouldn't be reading this book today. Therefore I would like to sincerely thank everyone who assisted me in this tremendous effort, including the other editors, David Payne, Laurie Allred, Jim Cain, and Kirby Bryson; the photographers, Jerry Samet and Donald Mitchell; the editorial staff, Joy Bradner, Elizabeth Douglass, Mary Fairchild, Missy Fick, Jean Gladden, Anita Lauder, Pat Lee, Van Massey, David Parker, Joanie Pruitt, Debra Shipe, Terri Thames, Joey Winfrey, and Candy Wright; the advisors Mrs. Calhoun and Mrs. Cates, and Cindy Osborne and Miss Harris, business manager and advisor, respectively. Also I would like to show my appreciation to the faculty, the guidance staff, and Mr. Shaver for their cooperation and understanding; to Delmar Printing Company and their representatives, Whitey Boswell, Max Ward, and Bob Anderson; and to Bob Pitts and David Joyce for assistance with some of the photography. As a result of the hard work contributed by many, not all of whom are listed here, we have left behind at Central a part of ourselves and have received invaluable experience in dealing with and understanding others and ourselves.

Thanks,

Ronda
